

STATINTL

Very Interesting People

CPYRGHT

By Maxine
Cheshire

They Find Moscow Open House, Instead of Closed Door

At the U.S. Embassy in Moscow, it seems to be open house these days for Washington wives and widows who might once have been persona non grata because of their husbands' jobs.

Ambassador and Mrs. Llewellyn Thompson's current list of visitors includes Mrs. Frank Wisner, Mrs. Desmond Fitzgerald and Mrs. Christian Herter.

Polly Wisner and Barbara Fitzgerald are the widows of two of the most distinguished CIA officials in U.S. intelligence history. Mrs. Herter's late husband was the Secretary of State. Mrs. Stewart Alsop had intended to join the party, but canceled out.

While Polly Wisner is away, her Georgetown house will be used by the "Chip" Bohlens. The U.S. Ambassador to France and his wife are expected in early November for two months home leave.

CPYRGHT